While we have constantly striven to recruit qualified In-2. telligence Officers with previous knowledge of the language of the country of their assignment, two important factors have made this with the limitations imposed upon personnel recruitment 25X1C It has thus often been necessary for us to recruit Intelligence Officers who, well qualified in other respects, do not have the language necessary to ensure maximum operating efficiency in the field. Every Intelligence Officer recruited under these conditions has been informed that, for the benefit of the organization, he would be required to learn the language concerned to the best of his ability. This stipulation was made in full knowledge of the fact that language proficiency is essential to maximum efficiency in the conduct of field operations. 25X1A9A began taking Italian language lessons at the Berlitz School before entering on duty with OSO, and took another course at the same school after his employment here, at no cost to this thus departed for ______n some know-25X1A9A 25X1A6A organization. but required much additional study before he could successfully deal with speaking agents who knowlittle or no 25X1A6A English; in his dealings with these agents, 7 is not onl∑5X1A9A required to direct and guide their activities, but also to screen, process and sometimes translate the written information produced by them, 25X1A For which duties a fluent knowledge of the language is essential. 25X1A9A The estimated cost per month for 4. which, at the present rate of exchange, is 25X1A6A instruction is less than $7.00. Inasmuch as language fluency is essential to the satisfactory 5. mission, and since such fluency is in completion of L 25X1A9A the basic interest of this organization, it is felt that your approval ofApproved Toos Release 2002/08/07 t.
